Quick Overview

Whether you are in service, healthcare or manufacturing, creating the “Visual Factory” will provide an environment for quality, productivity and making problems obvious. Through the right visuals, people become connected to their processes, and at a glance you can see how well focused the operations are. People are visual creatures, and the power of good, simple, low cost visuals, should not be underestimated.

Various useful tools & techniques will be covered, but we will dedicate the workshop to helping you create a workplace that is on the pulse of performance, and guides the behaviour of employees to respond to the right things.

Business Outcomes

- The workplace becomes transparent
- Employees are focused on the key performance areas
- The work environment is more productive and information is easier to source
- The health of the operation is exposed through the quality and applicability of the visuals
- Problems are brought to the surface and made possible to address
- Response times to problems are improved
